

SAM INGRAFFIA

SAM INGRAFFIA's entry into show business was a bit unusual. After graduating with honors from U.C.L.A., he was completing a Masters Degree in Finance. A director friend called and said he was having difficulty casting a small part in a play. Would Sam help him out and do the role?

At the first rehearsal, Ingraffia realized that he had found what he was supposed to do with his life. He quit graduate school the next day.

Over 100 film and television appearances have afforded Ingraffia with the opportunity to work with such acclaimed directors as John Schlesinger, Ron Howard, Mike Newell, Oliver Stone, Danny DeVito and Robert Zemeckis.

Sam's prolific writing and producing credits include feature films, episodic television, pilots, HBO comedy specials and internet series. His award-winning plays have been produced in theaters around the country.
